

PRESS RELEASE

Stockholm, Sweden, 31 May 2018

Sobi™ discloses payments to healthcare professionals and healthcare organisations to increase transparency

Swedish Orphan Biovitrum AB \(publ\) (Sobi™) today announces that the company has made all payments and transfers of value to healthcare professionals and organisations from 2017 publicly available*. This includes sponsorships to attend meetings, grants and donations, speaker fees, consultancy and advisory boards in accordance with the European Federation of Pharmaceutical Industries and Associations (EFPIA) Disclosure Code. The information is made available on Sobi's corporate website, starting 31 May 2018.

In the rare disease community, collaboration between authorities, healthcare professionals, companies and patient organisations has always been a cornerstone in the development of new and better treatments. Increased transparency provides a strong basis for continued collaboration and can positively impact the quality of research, development and manufacturing across the industry.

“We see transparency as an integral part of our business, and the EFPIA Disclosure Code is an important mechanism for ensuring long-term trust for and within our industry,” says Max Tullberg, Chief Compliance Officer at Sobi. “Dialogue and interaction between healthcare professionals and organisations is essential in building sustainable value for rare disease patients and rare disease communities around the world. Our commitment to transparency ensures that we meet the high standards for integrity that patients, prescribers, budget holders, other stakeholders and we ourselves expect.”

According to the EFPIA Disclosure Code the date for final publication is 30 June 2018. The data will be continuously updated to this date.*

About EFPIA Disclosure Code

The EFPIA (European Federation of Pharmaceutical Industries and Associations) Disclosure Code is a formal code of conduct that requires all EFPIA member companies and companies which are members of EFPIA member associations to disclose transfers of value to healthcare professionals (HCPs) and healthcare organisations (HCOs). The information is published on a public platform, which can be on the company's own website or a central platform combining data from different companies.
