

Environment, Health and Safety Management

Environment, health and safety (EHS) at Sobi aims not only at compliance with applicable regulations but is also important for cost-savings and efficiencies necessary to create a sustainable business and competitive edge. This requires a comprehensive environment, health and safety management system with a strong focus on identifying and mitigating risks. Management of water and energy consumption, chemicals, waste and emissions, has high priority in our production and research facilities.

At Sobi respect for the environment, and for one another, are essential and an important part of our values. Sobi's top management establishes an EHS policy to further emphasise the importance of EHS management. Please find the policy through the dialog box on the right.
